A NOTE FROM JILL RAFSON

CSC PRODUCING ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

Welcome to Classic Stage Company and our home at the beautiful Lynn F. Angelson Theater.

In my third season here at CSC, I'm delighted to be sharing a production that shines a spotlight on the incredible playwright Alice Childress, an artist whose work truly deserves to be seen as classic.

Childress was an actress who didn't see roles being written for Black women like her, and she didn't see stories on stage that reflected her world and the questions that her community was facing every day. So she wrote them herself.

I love that this artist saw the upheaval of the 1960s and knew that she had something to say about it, something that needed to be said from her specific point of view. It's in specificity that we find universality and can see each other more fully. It's one of the things that theater does best, creating empathy through a shared experience, and Alice Childress knew how to harness that feeling as deftly as any playwright.

Wine in the Wilderness takes place against the backdrop of a riot, a real event that shook this city and beyond in 1964, yet Childress keeps that riot outside the doors of her play. She knows that change can happen loudly as people take to the streets, but it can also happen quietly, among a few people in a room as they confront their own assumptions, blindspots, and desires.

I hope this is one of many visits you'll make to CSC this year. We'll be following Wine in the Wilderness with a new revival of William Inge's 1956 classic Bus Stop, produced in collaboration with Transport Group and National Asian American Theater Company. Plus, we'll have concerts, readings, and all sorts of events that look at the classics in new ways.

It's a wonderful season, and I thank you for being a part of it.

Fondly,

Jill Rafson
Producing Artistic Director

CLASSIC STAGE COMPANY

Classic Stage Company (CSC) is a leading Off-Broadway theater and a home for artists and audiences seeking epic stories intimately told.

OUR MISSION

Classic Stage Company challenges the traditional perception of classic work by exploring and reimagining great stories across the world's repertoire that illuminate our common humanity. As a home for the classics, we collaborate with artists to produce work that is inclusive, relevant and accessible. We believe that theater can both reflect and improve our society by reaching across cultural divides in order to foster shared empathy and understanding.

CORE VALUES

These values represent the core of who CSC is today and the qualities we strive to embody as we continue to evolve as an organization.

Passion & Presence. We deeply believe in the importance of live theater, the necessity of creative expression, and the making of high-quality work through a non-profit model that can benefit our community and spark conversation.

Adaptability. Doing work that reimagines the classics, we reject the notion that either the theatrical canon or our theater is stuck in the past. We value the flexibility to respond to the moment and try new things. We challenge ourselves to be fearless and to act from an ethos of leading rather than following.

Collaboration & Communication. We are at our best when working in deep partnership with all of our constituencies, from staff to board to artists to audiences and beyond. We believe listening is essential. We endeavor to operate with transparency and expect that our community will hold us accountable for our actions both on and off stage.

Openness. All are welcome here. We value mutual respect and operate with a constant curiosity that pushes us to think innovatively. We aspire to take risks and uphold CSC as a place where all can feel heard, supported, and inspired.

ALICE CHILDRESS (Playwright) Born in 1916 and raised during the Harlem Renaissance under the watchful eye of her beloved maternal grandmother, Alice Childress grew up to become first an actress and then a playwright and novelist. A founding member of the American Negro Theatre, she wrote her first play, Florence, in 1949. The script was written in one night on a dare from close friend and actor Sidney Poitier, who had told Alice that he didn't think a great play could be written overnight. She proved him wrong, and the play was produced Off-Broadway in 1950. In 1952 Childress became the first African-American woman to see her play (Gold Through the Trees) professionally produced in New York. In 1955, Childress's play Trouble in Mind was a critical and popular success from the beginning of its run Off-Broadway at the Greenwich Mews Theatre. The play immediately drew interest from producers for a Broadway transfer. In an ironic twist echoing the tribulations of the characters in the play itself, the producers wanted changes to the script to make it more palatable to a commercial audience. Childress refused to compromise her artistic vision, and the play didn't open on Broadway. If it had, at that time Childress would have been the first African-American woman playwright to have a play on Broadway. Trouble in Mind received a well-reviewed Off-Broadway revival in 1998 by the Negro Ensemble Company and has since been produced by Yale Repertory Theatre, Centerstage, Milwaukee Repertory Theatre, and Arena Stage. Trouble in Mind, directed by Charles Randolph-Wright, produced by the Roundabout Theatre Company, opened on Broadway in November 2021. Childress is perhaps best known today for "A Hero Ain't Nothin' But A Sandwich," her 1973 novel about a 13-year-old black boy addicted to heroin, which was subsequently made into a movie in 1978. Other plays written by Childress include Just A Little Simple (1950), Wedding Band: A Love/Hate Story in Black and White (1966) and Gullah (1984). Alice Childress died in New York in 1994. Throughout her career, she examined the true meaning of being black, and especially of being black and female. As Childress herself once said, "I concentrate on portraying have-nots in a have society."

LACHANZE (Director) With a career that has spanned thirty-eight Broadway seasons, LaChanze consistently brings women of complexity and triumph into the cultural lexicon. Two seasons ago, LaChanze made her debut as producer on two shows, the 20th anniversary revival of Suzan-Lori Parks' acclaimed Pulitzer Prize-Winning play, Topdog/Underdog, as well as Kimberly Akimbo, a new musical by Tony-Winning Composer Jeanine Tesori and Pulitzer Prize-Winning Playwright David Lindsay-Abaire, earning a combined 11 Tony Award® nominations and 6 Tony Award wins, including Best Revival of a Play and Best Musical, respectively. This past season, she produced Here Lies Love by David Byrne and Fatboy Slim and Jaja's African Hair Braiding written by Jocelyn Bioh and directed by Whitney White, earning a combined 9 Tony Award nominations. In Spring 2024, she joined the producing team of The Outsiders, a new musical based on S.E. Hinton's beloved novel, which won the Tony Award for Best Musical. This season, she will make her New York City directorial debut with Alice Childress's Wine in the Wilderness at Classic Stage Company. LaChanze won a Tony Award for her performance as Celie in The Color Purple, originated the role of Ti Moune in Once on This Island (Tony Award nomination), and upheld her commitment to artistic excellence as Wiletta in Alice Childress's historic play, Trouble In Mind (Tony Award nomination). Other notable stage performances include roles in Summer: The Donna Summer Musical (Tony Award nomination), A Christmas Carol, The Secret Life of Bees, If/Then, The Wiz, Ragtime, Uptown, It's Hot! and Dreamgirls. On screen, she has delivered memorable roles in both TV and film including: "East New York," "The Blacklist," "Handel's Messiah Rocks: A Joyful Noise" (Emmy Award), "Melinda," The Help, HBO's "The Night Of," "Law & Order: SVU," "The Good Fight," "Sex and The City," and Disney animated feature film Hercules among other titles. She is the President of Black Theatre United, a community of creatives dedicated to awareness, accountability, and advocacy. Proud mother of Celia Rose and Zaya LaChanze. She resides in Westchester, New York with her three cats and gardening hats.
